SUMMARY

NEXT-ICIQ will allow us keep the Projects and Grants department structure, which is essential to ensure the successful participation in the Horizon Europe program, both in the preparation of competitive proposals and in the execution of awarded projects. NEXT-ICIQ will also enable the specialization of the members of the department to offer a more professional and advanced advisory and support service to our researchers and will strengthen cooperation with other entities of strategic value for the center, both national and international.

The training of the Project Department staff, partly thanks to previous “Redes y Gestores” projects, has resulted in a successful participation in the previous H2020 program, especially in the second half of the program. In the whole H2020 program we have participated in 71 projects, mostly in the Excellence pillar, achieving 28.44M return in total. The objective of NEXT-ICIQ is to lay the foundations and acquire the necessary expertise to be able to offer a more strategic and focused support service, framed in the new European research policies and focused on the potential impact of the project within these European policies and in society.

The department will become a key strategic structure for the institution with influence in defining strategic plans and managing the center's research.
